

Concertgoers can help Concord cat sanctuary

Published: Monday, October 12, 2009

By Staff reports

Award-winning singer/songwriter Candice Night will be performing Wednesday at the House of Blues, 308 Euclid Ave., in Cleveland.

That night, concertgoers can help out Caroline's Kids Cat Sanctuary in Concord Township.

Night, her guitarist husband Ritchie Blackmore and their Renaissance rock group, Blackmore's Night, invite one local no-kill shelter to set up a donation jar in the lobby of their concerts.

Caroline's is the lucky group for the Cleveland stop. The no-kill, free roam sanctuary is home to more than 200 cats, many that will live out their lives there while others are available for adoption.

Night and her husband are animal activists and support animal issues and welfare groups around the world.

Check out their Web sites www.candicenight.com and www.blackmoresnight.com.